

Sinclair Broadcasting, which uses my public airwaves free of charge, has decided to air a smear campaign against John Kerry right before the presidential election. This to me seems like an obvious partisan move, while it does not seem to be a decision motivated to serve the public interest, as is the law.

If Sinclair is interested in being fair and balanced, where is the anti-Bush program or a pro-Kerry program that follows?

Further, this type of programming does nothing to further the strength of our democracy, but instead works diligently to undermine it. This is not what my public airwaves are to be used for.

I hope that you will use this rather obvious example of media consolidation to put pressure on Sinclair to not air this program or to suffer a revoked license.

Thank you

Shelley Crausbay